Laid in a Stock.

When the late Pierre Lorillard was a boy, his mother, being annoyed by moths that destroyed the woolen clothing and other material of the household, agreed to pay him a cent apiece for every moth he would kill in the house and bring to her. The same bargain was made with his brothers, Jake, George and Louis. In course of time Mrs. Lorillard noticed that, while the other children collected from her at intervals from 10 to 25 cents, Pierre drew on her frequently for a $1 at a time, endorsing his drafts with 100 dead moths. Investigation revealed the bent of the future financier as well as his early adaptability to methods governing the acquirement of wealth. Having procured from a furrier some pieces of fur thrown away because they were infested with moths, Pierre secreted them in an old chest in an unused closet. There the quickly accumulating moths were banked, to be drawn upon whenever the inventor and perfecter of the enterprise required pocket money.

Knighted Actors.

It is an odd fact that of the English actors knighted all but one had first to legalize the names under which they had won fame. The question arose with the first proposition to confer knighthood on a gypsy. It would be absurd to honor a gypsy, yet legally no such person as "Henry Irving" existed. No such obstacle had to be overcome when, on the occasion of Victoria's diamond jubilee, Squire Bancroft knighted before his queen and arose sir squire. However, the three actors knighted by King Edward bore cognomens of their own invention. Sir Charles Wyndham was born Culverwell, and Sir John Hare, Fairst. As for Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, his brilliant wife once put it "Tree" is a fantastic thing we just tacked on. We're all plain Beerbohm--plain as brother Max!"--Argonaut.

The Old English Prize Ring.

In the latter days of the English prize ring innumerable expedients had to be devised to bring off a fight. A favorite plan was to pitch the ring on the borders of two counties, so that the question of magisterial jurisdiction might be rendered difficult. Another plan was to charter a steamboat and proceed down the Thames to some lonely police forsaken spot in the marshes of Essex. For the memorable contest between Sayers and Heenan in 1880 a special train was run from London bridge to a secret destination. But the passengers, who comprised members of parliament, peers, pickpockets, pugilists, clergy and, it is said, a few bishops, cheerfully took tickets simply marked "excursion." They presently found themselves near Farnborough, in Surrey, where the fight occurred.--London Chronicle.

Original of Falstaff.

Sir John Fastolf was the original of Shakespeare's Falstaff and in his day was a continual butt for the jests of the town and borough of Southwark. Though he had fought at Agincourt, when Jack Cade invaded the borough, he showed great cowardice. When Cade was yet some way off Fastolf had armed and fortified his house and garrisoned it with veterans of the French wars. On the arrival of Cade, however, he withdrew his garrison and fled to the Tower, leaving his neighbors to the mercy of the rebels. Fastolf's matrimonial adventures seem also to have been another source of unpopularity, for, having married a widow named Scrope, he seized her property and kept his stepson out of his inheritance during his own lifetime.--London News.

"Great Expectations."

Charles Green, one of Dickens' illustrators, had two models, one of whom was a likable fellow, while the other, Gregory by name, was a greedy, self seeking character, always thinking of himself and his perquisites. When Green was on his deathbed Gregory was very officious, and one day Green, noticing this, said to him: "Oh, I haven't forgotten you, Gregory; got you down in my will." At the funeral Gregory invested in a wreath and duly attended to hear the will read. Green had kept his word, and the model was not forgotten. "To my dear friend Gregory," ran the document, "I leave, for his kindness to me, an illustrated, edition of 'Great Expectations.'"

Against His Principles.

"What was that man making such a fuss about?" asked the restaurant proprietor. "He found a couple of hairs in the food, sir," replied the waiter. "Oh, is that all?" "You see, sir, he's a vegetarian, and you can't get him to eat anything but vegetables."--Yonkers Statesman.

Neatly Parried.

A mother of four daughters, one of whom had recently been married, cornered an eligible young man in the drawing room. "And which of my girls do you most admire, might I ask?" "The married one," was the prompt reply.--Exchange.

Easier.

"I'm going to the dentist's to have this tooth out. Just mind the baby till I come back." Husband (with alacrity)--You mind the baby, Jessie. I'll go and get a tooth pulled out!

Her Bait.

"You have to have different bait for different fish, don't you, ma?" "I guess so. I know I caught a lobster with mistletoe."--New York Press.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often cause sudden attacks of diarrhoea, and it is best to be prepared. Sold by W. F. Crighton and Richard Gibson.

AWFUL PAINS FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.--"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorma A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book."

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Your druggist has it.

N. B.--Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

LAND ASSESSMENTS.

Land assessors for $6 of the 100 counties and for eleven of the nineteen cities of the state are liable for the loss of their labor during the summer unless they come across with new assessment books during the week. The law is mandatory that the books shall be in the hands of the auditor of public accounts, the clerks of the Circuit or Corporation Courts, and the commissioners of the revenue not later than October 1. The only exception is in the case of cities of a population of 46,000 or more by the last United States census, this affecting only Richmond and Norfolk.

Only fourteen counties have their new valuations completed and in the hands of the proper officers. In most instances these counties have only one assessment district, those being the same as districts of the commissioners of the revenue. Only six cities are on the honor list. Many of the other counties have been heard from in part. One or more districts have reported, but there are missing districts so that the counties are not complete. Perhaps 125 districts all told have not sent in the books.

THE FASHIONABLE HATS.

In the great throng at the new Pennsylvania terminal in New York a few days ago was a group of women who stood at one of the glass doors through which people gained a view of the lofty waiting room. As they moved away to give others behind them an opportunity to get a peep one of them said: "Did you ever see anything so perfectly grand and big?" One of the men who stood behind and heard the remark said, loud enough for the woman to hear: "Reminds me of the fashionable hats," and the good natured crowd laughed as the three hats which had filled most of the field of vision moved away.

FIFTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for fifty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Hampton's Magazine for October, which has been received from its publishers in New York, opens with a non-partisan political article of timely importance, entitled "The Collapse of the Taft Administration." In "The paying of the bill" one cause of the increased cost of living is made clear. "Malicious animal magnetism" is illustrated from rare prints, and scientifically explains much that has been mysterious in the life of Mrs. Eddy. "Rebuilding the child world" tells what is being done in the city schools for the mind and body of the child "The social whirl" is contributed by Eugene Wood and "The plays of the month" is well illustrated. The fiction of this issue is excellent as are its editorials, personalities, verse, etc.

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and when reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Crighton and Richard Gibson.

The October Everybody's, which has been received from its publishers in New York, contains the first installment of a new serial story by Rex Beach, entitled "The Ne'er-Do-Well," and in fiction there are also five short stories by well known writers. In the second installment of Lincoln Steffens' serial "It" he tells of the months of Wall street raid. In his "Women of tomorrow" William Hard writes of "Love deferred." "A mixing-bowl for nations" is a study of the various foreign colonies in Chicago. "Let's play Indian" tells of the making of a new American boy, and "The poison bugaboos," "Lassoing wild animals in Africa" and "Little talks on pictures" are most readable.

In a collision today between passenger and freight trains on the Valadivikwa Railway, Russia, many persons were killed and injured. Only a meager account of the wreck has been received. While he won a wager that he could drink a quart of whiskey and four cans of beer, Andrew Schostich, 43 years old, of Hammond, Ind., did not live to tell the story.
